

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XX.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1892.

NO. 56

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Both of our schools opened Monday with the prospect of a large attendance. —There is a revival in progress at the colored church in South Williamsburg. —Mr. J. L. Whitehead has treated his house to a new cover and a general re-pairing. —There was an auction of Wyoming ponies here Wednesday. All the little boys are happy now. —The union services were held at the M. E. Church last Sunday night. Eld. G. S. Sutton preached. —Miss Lena Irvine, who has been visiting Mrs. J. L. Gentry, returned to her home in Louisville, Wednesday morning. —The democrats will hold a county convention Saturday to select delegates to send to London to select a candidate for Congress. —Mrs. Sutton, the mother of our townsmen, John W. Sutton, died last Wednesday at Rose Hill, Va., and was buried here Friday morning. —Miss Carrie Myers gave a social Monday evening in honor of her cousin, Miss May Miller, of Mt. Vernon, who has been visiting her. There were 25 present and everyone reported a very pleasant time. —The Whitley county fair closed its first annual exhibition last Saturday after a three days' meeting. Of course, as this was the first, we could not expect it to be what the fairs of Central Kentucky are, but it was a grand success in every respect. Good attendance and a fair show of stock. The visitors during the fair were too numerous to mention and for fear of leaving some out we will not attempt it. Every town within 50 miles of Williamsburg was represented by some of its fair ladies and gallant gentlemen.

—The republicans met in convention on Tuesday at the court-house with a large attendance. Mart Rafus was made temporary chairman and J. S. Sharp, secretary, and a committee was appointed on organization and the temporary organization was made permanent. Then a committee was appointed on resolutions who reported as usual concerning Harrison and the McKinley bill, but saying nothing about the Force bill. Endorsed H. E. Finley and instructed the delegates to vote for him all the time and that a committee of seven gentlemen named in the resolution be appointed to select the 22 delegates and report them to the convention, which they did, appointing 21 white men and one negro, Bird Holt. This did not suit some of the leaders and after the convention adjourned, M. A. Moore, sheriff, and who is said to be a very strong Colson man, called the house to order and W. C. Rose was elected chairman and another convention was held. M. A. Moore, S. V. D. Stout and two colored men were appointed a committee on resolutions, who endorsed the resolutions of the former convention, but substituted a different set of delegates. There seems to be some trouble as to which shall be second. The first set of delegates were about evenly divided among the other candidates, but of the last they aimed to get entirely Colson men if Finley should be dropped. It was reported that Mr. Colson was using money here to secure a following, but this Mr. Colson denies.

IN MEMORIAM.

Dr. D.—Mrs. Lizzie Hunter McChree, on the night of August 25th, at her home in Flora, Ill., whither, but a short time ago, she with her husband and little daughter had come to make their home. Although in delicate health for some time past, not having been able to sit up all day after her arrival in Flora, she was not thought to be dangerously ill by her physician and friends and what a sudden blow to them when the sad news came, "Lizzie is no more." Death came with his summons in the stillness of night and so silently bore away her spirit that the rustic of his dark pinions awoke not the loving husband slumbering at her side. When morning dawned he found only her lifeless form with her hands folded over her heart just as she had fallen asleep, peacefully as a dazed child. Although the last rites were paid by stranger hands, it was with kind and loving ones. Her stay in her new home was a short one, but she had endeavored herself to all with whom she came in contact. The kind uncle and aunt were almost lacerated at her loss and mourned her as a child. All the kind friends there will be remembered with a lasting and loving kindness. They laid her to rest in a beautiful country churchyard, where wild flowers bloom and sweet western winds sing a requiem to the quiet sleeper lying there and her spirit sleeps peacefully around her Father's great throne, while we who are left behind are traveling on, footsore and weary. Each sunset brings us one step nearer the shore of the sea, the crossing of which will land us.

At home in a beautiful land,
With loved ones gone before;
Mother, husband and children dear
Praise together, evermore.
There'll be no parting in that home
Of love beyond the skies,
There'll be no sorrow, pain or death,
"There'll be no more good byes."
MOTHER.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—School commenced at Laurel Seminary Monday. —H. A. Roundtree will move into the house vacated by Dick Ward. —An infant of Mr. Frank Saunders, only a few days old, died Monday. —Miss Beatie Adams, who has been with us the past two weeks, left Wednesday for a few days' stay at Mt. Vernon on her way home. —Messrs. Dick Ward and Dick Haggard, two as good citizens as we had moved away this week, the former going to Lancaster and the other to Dillon Switch. —A Tennessee miner spoke before the multitude at the republican convention Monday on the troubles of the miners of Tennessee. His talk was a little out of place and inflammatory to a high degree. —Col. R. M. Jackson had a string of horses at the Williamsburg fair and brought away a number of the most valuable premiums. A little mare belonging to R. C. Ford received a premium in every ring in which she exhibited. —There was a very large crowd of people in town Tuesday at the republican convention, and the whole proceedings went off quietly, according to the arrangement of the horses. There were several theaters here, who were badly disappointed because it was found unnecessary to take a thousand or two dollars from the bank that had been left there for this important occasion. Colson will have the largest number, if not a majority, of the votes in the coming district convention. —"W. E. H." writing to the Home and Farm under the head of "A Journey on Foot in 1892," writes the following: "I now left Tennessee and entered Kentucky, it being where it is called the 'wilderness part' of the State, extending across it in a straight line about 70 miles. Cumberland river, in a valley of the log mountains, was reached hereabouts. Crossing this river I kept along its fertile and cultivated shore, and at the close of that day stopped over night at the house of a Mr. Woods, 22 miles from Cumberland Gap. The next day Barboursville, 30 miles from Cumberland Gap, was arrived at. I have preserved no description of this place, except that it was surrounded by hills. I here exchanged my Tennessee money for the local currency. Where I staid over the night of the 20th and 21st of May I saw ice which had formed on that night. On this day, the 21st, I arrived at the village of London, 55 miles from Cumberland Gap, the second village through which I had come in Kentucky. Its dozen or twenty houses seemed to have a time-worn appearance. Twelve or fifteen miles from London I came to the Rockcastle hills. Those of the armies in the civil war that had to cross these hills, and are surviving, need not be reminded that they were rocky, and that the road over them was a hard one to travel. Thirty-seven miles from London, and as I made it, 92 miles from Cumberland Gap, I arrived at Crab Orchard, a pleasant little town, and left the 'wilderness part' of Kentucky behind me. I now entered on a stretch of country extending 100, more or less, miles across it, famous for its fertility, cultivation and products.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—John Greenleaf Whittier, the poet, is dead at Hampton Falls, Mass., aged 84. —Mrs. J. D. Holderman, who was Miss Fannie Straub, died Wednesday afternoon, after a three weeks' illness of typhoid fever. Mrs. Holderman had been in bad health since the birth of her little child about five months ago, but was not taken down until the time mentioned above. The little girl, who will greatly need a mother's love, survives, and she with the husband have the sympathy of their many friends and the public generally. Mrs. Holderman had just celebrated her 21st birthday and had for a number of years been a devout member of the Baptist church, where she was organist for a long time. Her funeral was preached at the Baptist church yesterday by Rev. A. V. Sizemore, after which her friends followed her to her last resting place in Buffalo Cemetery.

SPECIAL TREATMENT.—By Dr. Appleman, the Louisville specialist, for catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, lung, stomach, liver, blood, bladder and urinary troubles. Dr. Appleman is becoming so well and favorably known in and around Stanford that it is hardly necessary to mention his superior skill. He has demonstrated that by his cures. Many who had doctored for years, even until they had given up in despair that cherished hope of a cure and resigned themselves to a miserable existence, have been speedily and permanently cured by the doctor. The deaf have been made to hear and the eyesight restored in many. Don't be discouraged.

—Thomas Murphy, aged 88, was about to die at Dubuque and Mr. Dempsey wanted to marry him to get his pension. He died before the justice could perform the ceremony.

—Louis Robertson shot and killed Joseph Patterson, as a result of a political discussion in Shelby county.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—The Casey County Teachers' Institute convened here Monday with W. H. Hoskins in the chair and A. L. Peterman as conductor. There was a pretty full attendance of teachers on Tuesday, but on Monday a heavy rain, continued until so late in the morning that all did not get in that day. Your Middleburg scribbler, Virgil Coleman, was elected secretary by a large majority and committees on programme and resolutions were appointed, but I have not their names at this writing. —One of the largest mass conventions met here on Tuesday for the purpose of appointing delegates to the republican congressional convention to be held at London on the 15th, that has assembled here for many days. F. P. Combest was elected temporary chairman and Jesse Lay appointed secretary. Dr. I. C. Dye was appointed chairman of committee on resolutions. While waiting for the committee to report, Mr. J. H. Thomas, being called upon, made a stirring speech in favor of Casey's favorite, Col. Silas Adams. Whenever the name of Adams was called there was enthusiastic applause. The committee reported resolutions endorsing Harrison's administration, the proceedings of the 51st congress and instructed the delegates first, last and all the time to cast Casey's vote for Col. Silas Adams. There was not a dissenting voice.

Hayden Station.

—Mrs. B. W. Gaines is visiting in Boyle this week. —Rev. Watts, colored, of Richmond, has just closed a meeting of three weeks at Logansport, which resulted in about 40 additions.

—C. M. Spoonamore sold to H. T. Moberly a yearling filly for $75; also sold to J. H. Pepples a nice 2-year-old gray filly for $125; purchased of Dan Vanarsdale a cow for $28.

—Many farmers are ordering their seed wheat from Illinois and Michigan in order to secure an extra good yield next year. The ground is now being prepared for sowing. Mr. Gaines has about 140 good ewes that can be bought at a bargain.

—Our wide awake distiller, W. H. Traylor, has begun work on a new warehouse 45x80 feet, which will, when completed, hold about 1,000 barrels of whiskey and the hutter contemplates filling it next spring. Elijah Withers is rebuilding his barn opposite Rush Branch church, which burned some time ago.

—This place may not be as well known as Stanford, or even as Rowland, but we are getting there all the same. If we haven't water works and electric lights and ice factories, we have two pikes and the K. C., the most accommodating railroad in the world, and the slowest. It will stop anywhere, for anything, but if you think you can make the round trip to Richmond over it in less than a week you'll be mistaken.

—Col. J. M. Beazley has rented his farm to Messrs. S. G. Burton and J. C. Johnson, of Somerset, and the colonel will join his handsome wife at Junction City. Miss Belle Palmer, of Garrard, has been visiting Mrs. A. T. Traylor, her sister. Miss Lizzie Gooch left the first of the week for Hustonville to enter school. Miss M. S. Beazley leaves Monday to enter Hamilton College at Lexington. Miss Mayme Klug, of Walnut Flat, left last week to enter school at Wellington, Kansas. Little Miss Catherine Beazley will attend Stanford Female College. Mr. Lewis Daddler returned Friday night much improved from French Lick Springs. Mr. James Daddler and handsome wife have moved to their parents' at McCreary, Garrard county, where they will make their future home. The community regrets very much to have them leave. Miss Ella Dunn, quite an attractive little beauty of Bryansville, came up Tuesday to take the train for Brodhead.

—A mastodon's head three feet long and weighing 255 pounds, with eye sockets a foot in diameter, was grubbed up in Carroll county.

—The fight of the Chicago municipal authorities against the Garfield Park Raging Association resulted in a terrible tragedy, two men being killed and one fatally wounded. One of the dead men is James M. Brown, the millionaire turfman, and the other Police Officer John Powell. Brown is said to have put 12 men to sleep in his time. A good deal of politics is mixed up in the row against the track and bribes and perjury take a prominent hand.

—Speaking of prize fights, the first fight in America was by Jacob Hyer and Thomas Bensley in 1816. The longest glove fight was 5 hours, 3 minutes and 45 seconds, in 76 rounds, by Sheriff and Welch, in Philadelphia, in 1854. The longest bare-knuckle battle in America was in 4 hours and 20 minutes, by Fitzpatrick and O'Neil, in 1860. Mike Madden and Bill Hayes fought 6 hours and 5 minutes in England, in 1845, and James Kelly and Jonathan Smith fought 6 hours and 15 minutes in Australia, in 1855.

DANVILLE.

—Mr. A. Tribble, landlord of the Gilcher house, was in Richmond on a business trip this week.

—There were 60 appearances to noon Wednesday for the term of the Boyle Circuit court beginning the 19th inst.

—Hereafter Rev. J. L. Allen will preach the 2d and 4th Sundays at Pleasant Grove church in Garrard county.

—Up to today, Wednesday, Morrison Seminary has 46 pupils; Miss Reed's school 58 pupils; Centre College opens Wednesday, 14th inst.

—Drs. J. M. Meyer and Howard Kincaid have formed a partnership for the practice of medicine. Their office will be the same heretofore occupied by Dr. Meyer, near the post-office.

—The Danville Gas Company proposed to the council Tuesday night to make material reduction in the price of gas to all consumers, if the council should agree to extend the company's lease, which will not expire for about two years. A committee from each body will confer with each other and report at the next regular meeting of the council when action will be taken on the company's proposal.

—Josie, the little daughter of Mr. M. J. Farris, is very ill with tubercular meningitis. Mr. Arthur Scott, who returned sick from Birmingham, Ala., 10 days ago, is not getting along as well as his friends hoped at one time. His lungs seem to be seriously affected. Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McGoodwin are expected home from Owensboro Saturday.

—After various delays, the first of the 12 cases against Joseph Columbus Goings, for selling intoxicating drinks to Tinsley Mershon and A. H. Dawson, was called for trial Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the police court. The defendant called for a jury and while the chief of police was summoning it, Mr. Goodloe, the town attorney, and Judge Breckenridge, the defendant's attorney, effected an agreement by which Goings was to pay $198.36 and then slide out of the court. Itemized the bill is as follows: $50 each in the three first cases; to the first was attached $34.38 costs; to the 2d and 3d $1.10 each costs; to the remaining 10 cases $1.40 each as costs. Mr. Dawson, one of the witnesses for the prosecution, failed to present himself as directed and had to be brought all the way from Corbin. When he arrived in charge of Marshal Newland, of Stanford, he looked as though he had eaten something that did not agree with him.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—FOR SALE.—Good pair work mules. J. M. Hill, Stanford.

—B. D. Holtzclaw sold to L. Herrin 3 2-year-old mules at $120.

—J. T. Underwood sold to L. H. Hudson a 2-year-old filly for $200.

—A very fine article of seed wheat for sale. Stanford Roller-Mill Co.

—D. N. Prewitt bought of Ben Robinson 13 head of fat steers at 2½c.

—M. S. Baughman sold to L. B. Nunneley a pair of mules for $250.

—FOR SALE.—Car load of splendid corn. M. J. Harris, Crab Orchard, Ky.

—M. E. Elkin bought of C. G. Ware 4 steers at 2c and of Wm. Moreland 4 extra good ones at 2½c.

—William Moreland sold to May Bros. of Perryville, 200 ewes at $1 and bought of same a lot of feeders at 3 cents.

—Charles Alexander sold his farm, one mile from Versailles, containing 90 acres, to Joe Rogers, of Mercer, at $450.25.

—We acknowledge receipt of tickets to the Somerset Fair, which will be held Sept. 13-15, and promises to be the best ever held there.

—The McCormack's church neighborhood is afflicted with a pest of grasshoppers. There are millions of them and they have in many instances eaten all the fodder off the corn.

—Cattle are in only fair demand in Cincinnati at 4.60 for best shippers; hogs are falling, best butchers being quoted at only 5½; sheep are in fair demand at 3 to 5, and lambs 3½ to 6½c.

—Messrs. J. K. and M. S. Baughman have brought their crack 4-year-old, Naboth, home and will give him a rest for a few weeks. He will start at Lexington, when he will more than likely lower his record of 2:25.

CONSULT DR. APPLEMAN.—If your eyes are incurable he will frankly tell you so, and if a curable one his charge for treatment will be reasonable. He carries his own medicines, which are prepared by best chemists and can be relied upon to do the work intended. The doctor will be at the Myers House, Stanford, Tuesday, Sept. 13.

—In the circuit court at Georgetown Milt Kendall, Jr., charged with killing John Jarvis, was acquitted. Kendall was one of the principals in the fight of August, 1891, between the Jarvis Bros. and old man Kendall and his four sons, in which John Jarvis and O. J. Montgomery were killed.

—Col. Joseph Nunez, who has taken the stump for every republican presidential candidate since 1856, is out in a card saying that he cannot support Harrison for the reason that he has changed his mind as to his honesty and republicanism.

SIX : PAGES.

If Mr. Harrison, in his long delayed letter accepting the republican nomination for president, which he moved Heaven and earth to secure, had simply said, "I accept," he would have led some people to believe that he was a statesman and not the miserable, petty partisan that each one of the 8,000 words that he used, proves him still further to be. The letter is simply the special pleadings of a pettifogger, without a redeeming feature akin to statesmanship. It is nothing more nor less than a cunningly made vote trap, set so as to catch out a coming and a going. He pulls the wool over the eyes of the farmers, tries to fool the laboring men with platitudes about protection, which at least does not protect them, tickles the silver men, proves himself a tin-plate liar and so on ad nauseam. Fearing the effects of an advocacy of the force bill, he touches the matter rather gingerly and hopes that the States may be able to regulate the suffrage question so as to insure each man a free vote fairly counted. His impractical "non partisan commission" to deal with the question is again urged and he promises to again urge Congress to provide for the appointment of one. The paper is full of abuse of the democratic party, whose return to power would wreck the financial interests of the country. The letter is not calculated to raise the respect of thoughtful people for the man who holds the highest office in their gift.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, the burly and brutish Bostonian, is no longer the heavy weight champion of the world. Jim Corbett, the California wonder, took his laurels from him at the Olympic Club, New Orleans, Wednesday night, and sent him to grass on 21st round. He was knocked down three times in that round, the last time being unable to get up, while the blood poured from his mouth and nose. Corbett came out without a scratch and was showered with bouquets and embraced by his friends amid the wildest enthusiasm. Sully was raised to a chair by his seconds, where he sat the picture of despair and disappointment. Corbett, the winner, gets $45,000 and the world's championship. The daily papers have been filled with the disgusting details of the brutal business for a month and decent people generally are glad that they will now get a rest from that kind of rot.

MR. HARRISON having, as Brer. Fox, of the Danville Democrat, would say in very bad Latin, performed the feat that Horace attributed to the mountain and presented it to a defenseless people, he can now turn his massive mind to greater matters. A Montreal audience hissed the actor impersonating the American Admiral, and tearing the stars and stripes from his hands dragged it through the streets. If that isn't casus belli what is it? An ultimatum is in order and war to the knife and the knife to the hilt unless the Canadian government apologizes and pays for the flag.

Some hoodlums broke up Sam Small's prohibition meeting at Hazelton, Ind., and after he went to his room some one fired at him through the window and put a small ball into the fleshy part of his leg. He was not hurt much, and was able to get off on the first train, but the animus of the matter is deplorable. Sam may be a little too flip with his mouth, but this is a free country and a man is not forced to listen to another unless he wants to. The citizens of the town owe it to themselves to bring the cowards to justice.

STRIKES are expensive luxuries. The treasurer of Pennsylvania has already paid out $160,000 on account of the Homestead strike for the maintenance of the military and this is only a part of the total expense. The strikers have lost a great deal of time, which means money to them, and the leaders will not be hired again under any circumstances. The strike was a signal failure and the strikers are now asking for the places they gave up under such tragic circumstances a month or two ago.

GEN. FIELD, the third party's candidate for vice-president, refuses to divide time with a democratic speaker at Elizabethtown, where he has an appointment Oct. 5. The general seems to be losing in his old age the courage that used to distinguish him in the Confederate army.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer panders to the tastes of its patrons. Tuesday it boiled a five-column letter of acceptance of President Harrison to one column and devoted two pages to the prospective prize fight. The paper evidently knows what its class of readers wants and gives it to 'em red hot.

DANIEL DOUGHERTY, of Philadelphia, the man who presented the name of Hancock to the National Democratic Convention in 1880 and that of Cleveland in 1884 and 1888, is dead. He was a fine lawyer and a most noted orator and humorist.

JAMES G. BLAINE will not take part in the presidential canvass, as reported, for reasons which he does not state, but he has written a letter submitting his views on the issues, which he regards as paramount in the campaign. They are these, the McKinley bill, which is proving such a boon to the country, in his estimation, reciprocity, which is working wonders, and the National currency. The letter closes as follows: "The three issues which I have given are the issues upon which I would arraign the democratic party. I would not multiply issues nor be diverted by our opponents from a steadfast adherence to and constant presentation of these questions before the people, until every voter is made to know and understand there true and weighty significance." No reference whatever is made to Mr. Harrison and the force bill is left severely alone. The letter is not in the ex-secreary's former dashing and audacious style, but is common place and perfunctory, showing that his heart was not in its composition. Mr. Blaine is smart enough, in fact he is the smartest republican in the United States, to see that the advocacy of the force bill won't do, but the record of the republican party is written on that odious measure and the democrats will not permit them to shrink it. The force bill is and will remain a big issue in this campaign.

How have the mighty fallen! Col M. Lewis Clark, who used to go to Church-hill Downs in his tally-ho, was arrested for participating in the Garfield course races at Chicago and hustled off to jail in a patrol wagon. The handsome colonel protested and offered to pay for a carriage himself, but it was no go. Gov. Brown ought to call out his militia and send them to Chicago to protect the Kentuckian from such indignity.

MR. DONALD PADMAN, for more than 20 years connected with the Courier-Journal, on which he served in every capacity to managing editor, has resigned to go to St. Louis to do editorial work on the Post-Dispatch. In parting with him the C.-J. takes occasion to pay him highly deserved compliments, and adds that his reasons for leaving are extraneous from his journalistic connections.

The arrogance of some labor organizations amounts almost to tyranny. For instance, the printers on the Chattanooga Times have struck because one of the proprietors of the paper has taken the position of pressman and is not a union man. Could anything be more absurd than this attempt of labor to dictate in such matters?

The primaries in the 11th district Tuesday did not settle the question as to the congressional nomination, but Colson developed great strength. Wilson is wily and is hard to down in such a contest, so do not give him out.

The republican plurality in Vermont was reduced in the State election Tuesday from 22,895 in 1888 to 15,547. The democrats increased their pluralities in Arkansas and of course elected their entire State ticket.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The House voted, 72 to 1, to postpone the assessment for State taxes to Nov. 15. The Senate has had no quorum this week and legislative business is at an absolute standstill.

NEWSY NOTES.

A man has offered $120,000 for the peanut privilege at the World's Fair.

Three negroes were lynched near Paris, Texas, as a result of a row in which one white man was killed.

The new Ekstein Norton University, at Cane Springs, 20 miles from Louisville, will be dedicated next Sunday.

At Biddle, Scott county, the little daughter of S. B. White fell into a tub of hot water and was scalded to death.

F. M. Swope, a wealthy and prominent business man of Seymour, Ind., dropped dead while acting as pall-bearer.

According to United States statistics, farm land in New Jersey is rated at an average of $65 per acre, the highest of any State in the union.

A California judge decided that the day of execution having passed, a condemned murderer is dead in the eyes of the law, though not hanged.

Jack McAniff put Billy Myer to sleep in the 15th round at New Orleans. It was a game fight and Myer's friends are proud of him if he was vanquished.

It is estimated that 250,000 ex-soldiers and deserters will be present at the National Encampment at Washington and that 300 brass bands will furnish the music.

W. H. Loyd, city marshal of Dyersburg, Tenn., was shot and mortally wounded Wednesday night by tramps, whom he tried to arrest. If caught they will be lynched.

The Ashers and the Hills, of Clay county, between whom bad blood had existed for some time, clashed in deadly conflict Saturday. One man was killed and several wounded.

The wife and child of W. L. Barclay the trotting horse man at Lexington, were so badly burned by the explosion of a gasoline stove that the child died and the mother cannot recover.

The negro Dixon knocked the white Skelley silly in the 8th round at the Olympic Club, New Orleans, Tuesday night. The fight was for $7,500 and the featherweight championship of the world.

Congressman Thomas H. Paynter was renominated by the Ninth district democrats at Carlisle.

Eighteen prisoners escaped from the Chattanooga, Tenn., jail. Among them were three condemned murderers.

Nancy Hanks went a mile in 2:07 flat on a regulation track at St. Paul, Wednesday, thus clipping 1 from her world beating record of a week or two ago.

Doll Adah, a tough character, killed his father-in-law, Richard Wright, near Bloomington, Ind. The eldest daughter of the murdered man pursued the murderer and killed him with an ax.

Misses Gertie and Mattie Harris, who claimed to be from Louisville, were arrested in the Olympic Club, at New Orleans, where they had gotten by donning male attire and putting up their good money.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

Union services will be held Sunday night at the Methodist church.

On the 17th Judge Morrow will hold a special term of the Garrard circuit court for the trial of equity cases.

The condition of Mr. Geo. R. Bradley remains unchanged. He is attended by Drs. Stucky, of Louisville, and Melville, of Crab Orchard.

Clay Gill was fined $100 before Judge Robinson, Wednesday, for killing a horse belonging to Myers' livery stable. He didn't have much cash and went to the work-house.

Garrard College opened Tuesday with an unusually large number of pupils. Prof. Gordon has an excellent corps of teachers and the prospect for a successful term is very flattering.

A negro, Charley Owens, got drunk Tuesday and whipped his wife. When Policeman Jim Hamilton went after him he tried to do the Frank Turner act by resisting the officer. Hamilton came to town and got his revolver and hustled Charles to jail unceremoniously.

The question as to who shall teach the public school the coming session has finally been settled by the superintendent of public instruction, who decided in favor of Miss Dovie Harris. The school will open next Monday. We understand that Miss Eliza Lusk will begin another school in the county.

The sheriffs posse went after Frank Turner again, Tuesday, but learned that he had left the county. While looking for Turner they ran across Jack Chatterwood, a desperate negro who had escaped from the work-house some time since. He drew a large revolver and was shot by one of the posse. The ball struck him near the hip and it is said will not prove fatal. It is said by those in a position to know, that Frank Turner has skipped out to stay. One thing is certain, that if he comes back to Garrard he will be landed behind the bars.

Mr. Gordon Grainger and wife are visiting his aunt, Mrs. M. H. Owsley. Miss Annie Royston has returned from Lebanon. Mr. Howard Marks, of Louisville, was in town Wednesday. Miss Lottie Borders has returned from Lexington. Mrs. W. J. Landrum left Wednesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. G. Dunlap, at Camp Nelson. Mr. Jno. C. Thompson and family have returned from a visit to Hintonville. Miss Alice Henderson, of Richmond, was in town Tuesday. Mr. Joseph Severance, Jr., of Stanford, visited Mr. Graham Frank on Monday. Miss Ida Grant has returned from a pleasant trip to Niagara Falls. Mrs. Clemenson and Coleman Lee spent a few days in Lexington this week. Chas. Frisbie leaves next week for Danville, where he will enter college. Rev. Terey and Mr. W. H. Wherritt attended Presbytery at Harrodsburg this week. Squire W. H. Kinnaird is in Middleboro on business.

The case against Danerel for murder of John D. W. Mallins at the August election, 1891, is being tried to-day, Thursday.

The ice cream supper given by the ladies was a decided success, and now a new fence will be placed around the church.

A case against our express agent for delivering C. O. D. jug was tried Tuesday and dismissed by peremptory instructions of the judge.

The condition of the wounded men at Brodhead continues to improve. Loman, the man who was so badly cut by Kreiger is able to walk around.

Judge Morrow in his usual good spirits and sunny disposition and is pushing the business of his court right along. We have not found any one in this locality, who does not desire Judge Morrow's re-election.

Circuit court began Monday morning. Judge Morrow and Prosecuting Attorney Herndon were promptly on hand and started the machinery to moving. A number of cases were disposed of and business is progressing rapidly.

E. C. Walton, the efficient and polite business manager, was here Monday and Tuesday. J. W. Alcorn, R. C. Warren, George Davison, M. C. Sauley and J. S. Owsley, Jr., were attending court here. Hon. H. C. Eversole, of London, was here Wednesday. W. M. Weber was in Louisville the first of the week to see his son, H. C. Weber.

FISHING.

A youth beside the water sits,
The noonday sun is warmly beaming;
His nose and neck are turkey red,
His eyes with radiant hope are gleaming.
He watches close the bobbing cork
Astride upon the tiny billow;
A jerk, a swirl, and high above
He lands a sucker in the willows.
That's fishing.
A fair maid trips the tennis court,
A dozen eyes admire her going;
Her black and yellow blazer burns
A hole right through the sunset's glowing.
She drives the ball across the net,
And into heria consumed with wishing
She drives a dart from Cupid's bow;
She'll land a sucker, too. She's fishing.
That's fishing.
My little wife beside me stands
And steals a dimpled arm around me;
A kiss upon my lips—that's bait—
Some information to surround me.
Her bonnet is quite out of style,
Her summer wrap quite past the using;
That lovely one—so cheap at Brown's—
Is just the one she would be choosing.
That's fishing.
So, whether the game be fish or men,
The bait be kisses, worms or blouses—
The place at home, by sunny pool,
Or tennis ground at evening's hush—
'Tis the old game the serpent played With Mother Eve in Eden's bowers.
And Adam's sons and daughters all
Will love the sport to time's last hours.
That's fishing.

THE DOCTORS' TEST.

An Experiment Showing the Power of Imagination.

Although I had known George Martin a long time, he had only lately intimated me into the mysteries of his life.
I knew well that he had been guilty of many kinds of excesses and indiscretions in his youth, nevertheless I was not a little astonished to hear that he had once sunk so low as burglary. Without further remark I here relate the chief episode out of the remarkable career of this strange man:
"Yes," said he, "I had a hard time of it in those days, and finally I became a —burglar. When Robert Schmiedlein proposed to me that we should break into the somewhat retired house of two doctors, Dr. Engler and Dr. Langner, I thoughtlessly agreed. Both doctors were well known on account of their scientific researches, and one of them especially for his eccentric manner.
"Well, the night fixed for the carrying out of our design arrived, and we went to work with the greatest confidence, for all the circumstances were favorable for a burglary. It was pitch dark, neither moon nor stars visible, and in addition a strong west wind was blowing, which was very welcome to us,
as it promised to drown every sound,
however slight.
"It was toward two in the morning as we, assuming all was safe, began by slinging through a chain which fastened a ladder to the wall. The ladder we placed under a window in the first story on the left side of the house.
In less than five minutes we had opened the window, and, hearing nothing, Schmiedlein climbed through it and I followed him. After carefully reclos-ing the venetians we ventured to light a lantern, and then discovered that we were in a kind of lumber room, the door of which was locked.
"After picking the lock, we determined first to explore the rooms on the ground floor, thinking we should thus run less risk of waking the inhabitants of the house.
"To our no little astonishment we perceived, as we crept downstairs, a light shining under the door of one of the rooms at the back of the building.
"At first we were both for beating a hasty retreat, Schmiedlein soon recovered himself, and proposed that we should force our way into the room, bind and gag every occupant, and then obtain by threats all desirable information.
"I agreeing, we approached the door.
While carefully throwing the light round, I noticed, about seven feet from the floor, a wire which appeared to pass through the door we were approaching, and, on pointing it out to my companion, he thought it would be connected with some bell.
"I replied in a whisper that we should try and avoid an alarm by cutting the wire, and as I could just reach it with my hands I would hold it firm while Schmiedlein cut it between my hands and thus prevent it jerking back and ringing the bell.
"Setting the lantern on the floor, I seized the wire, while Schmiedlein drew a pair of pincers out of his pocket.
But the moment I touched it I felt a frightful shock, which quivered through and through me, so that I fell all of a heap, tearing the wire down with me. I remember hearing the loud ringing of a bell, while Schmiedlein—whom, moreover, I have never seen since—disappeared like lightning into the darkness and escaped, very likely by the way we had come.
"On falling down I struck my head violently against the opposite wall and became unconscious, while the electric bell—at that time a novelty—rang unceasingly.
"Regaining my senses I found myself bound and helpless, which, after all,
did not surprise me, as I had concluded
I had been caught where I had felt.
It soon struck me, however, that there was some peculiar circumstance connected with my captivity.
"I was nearly undressed and lay on a cold slab of slate which was about the height of a table from the ground, and only a piece of linen protected my body from immediate contact with the stone. Straight over me hung a large lamp, whose polished reflector spread a light far around, and when I, as far as possible, looked round I perceived several shelves with bottles, flasks and chemical preparations of all kinds upon them. In one corner of the room stood a complete human skeleton, and various odds and ends of human bodies hung here and there upon the walls. I then knew I was lying on the operation—or dissecting—table of a doctor, a discovery which naturally troubled me greatly; at the same time I perceived that my mouth also was firmly gagged.
"What did it all mean? Had some accident befallen me, so that a surgical operation was necessary for my recovery? But I remembered nothing of the kind, and also felt no pain; nevertheless here I lay stripped and helpless, on this terrible table, gagged and bound,

which indicated something extraordinary.
"It astonished me not a little that there should be such an operation room in such a house, until I remembered that Dr. Langner, as the district physician, had to carry out the post-mortem examinations for the circuit, and that in the small provincial town no other room was available for such a purpose. I felt too miserable, however, to think anything more about it.
But I soon noticed, after another vain effort to free myself, that I was not alone in the room, for I heard the rustling of paper, and then some one said,
in quiet measured tones:
"Yes, Langner, I am quite convinced that this man is particularly suited for the carrying out of my highly important experiment. How long have I been wishing to make the attempt—at last, to-night, I shall be able to produce the proof of my theory."
"That would indeed be a high triumph of human skill," I heard a second voice reply; "but consider, dear doctor, if that man there were to expire under our hands—what then?"
"Impossible!" was the quick reply.
"It is bound to succeed, and even if it did not, he will die a glorious death in the interests of science; whilst, if we were to let him go, he would sooner or later fall into the hands of the hangman."
"I could not even see the two men, yet their conversation was doubtless about me; and, hearing it, I shuddered from head to foot. They were proposing some dangerous operation on me, not for my benefit, but in the interests of medical science!
"At any rate, I thought, they won't undertake such a thing without my sanction; and I went, after all, was their intention? It must be something terrible, for they had already mentioned the possibility of my succumbing. I should soon know the fearful truth, for, after a short pause, they continued:
"It has long been acknowledged that the true source of life lies in the blood.
What I wish to prove, dear Langner, is this: Nobody need die from pure loss of blood, and yet such cases occur only too often, whilst we must all the time be in possession of means to renew this highly important sap of life, and thus avoid a fatal result. We need of a few, but only a few, cases of a man who for some reason or other has lost so much blood that his death appeared inevitable. If some other noble-hearted man had not offered his own blood, in order to let it flow from his veins into the veins of the dying man.
As you are aware, this proceeding has always had the desired effect. I consider it, however, a great mistake to deprive a fellow-being of necessary blood, for the one thereby only gains life and strength at the cost of another, who offers himself for an always dangerous sacrifice."
"Yes, I do not think that right either," replied Dr. Langner. "And, moreover, how seldom is a man found at the critical moment ready to submit himself at once to such a dangerous loss of blood."
"That is very natural; no one lightly undertakes such a thing," continued the other. "So much greater will be our triumph if the operation succeeds.
I hope to show you, dear colleague, that although we are thinking of taking that man's blood, even to the last drop, in a few hours we shall set him on his feet again."
"Just so! I do not see why we should not succeed. At any rate, in the interests of science we should prove in a practical manner the correctness of our theory."
"And this proof, dear friend, we will undertake without delay. Let me just repeat my instructions, for we cannot go to work too carefully to preserve the life of this man. I will open a vein in his thigh and measure exactly the quantity of blood which flows out, at the same time watching the beating of the heart. Under ordinary circumstances nothing could possibly save him; but just before the extinction of the last spark of life we will insert the warm blood of a living rabbit into his veins, as we have already arranged. If my theory is right the pulsation of the heart will then gradually increase in strength and rapidity. At the same time it is important to protect his limbs from cold and stiffness, which will naturally take place with the loss of all arterial blood."
"The conversation of the two doctors overwhelmed me with deadly terror. I could scarcely believe I was really awake, and not the victim of some cruel nightmare.
"The fact remained, however, that I lay helpless on the dissecting table, that a threatening skeleton stood in the corner of the room, and, above all, that terrible conversation which I had to listen to in silence filled me with a fear such as I had never before experienced.
Involuntarily the thought forced itself upon me that I was at the mercy of two infatuated doctors, to whose mad theory I should here fall the victim.
"I said to myself that no doctor with a sound mind would propose such a frightful and murderous experiment upon a living man.
"The two doctors now approached the dissecting table and looked, calmly into my face; then, smiling, took off their coats and tucked up their sleeves.
I struggled to get free, as only a desperate man under such extraordinary circumstances could have struggled. In vain. Their long-acquired experience knew how to render me completely helpless, and, to their satisfaction, I could not even make a sound.
"Dr. Engler now turned to a sidetable, and I saw him open a chest of surgical instruments and take out a lanet, with which he returned to me.
He at once removed the covering from my right thigh, and although I lay bound to the table in such a way that I could not see my limbs, I was able to watch the doctor busied with his preparations.
"Directly after removing the cloth I felt a prick in the side of my leg, and at once felt the warm blood rush forth and trickle down my leg. The conviction that he had opened the principal vein of the thigh would have sufficed to shake the strongest nerves.

"There is no danger," said Dr. Engler, looking into my staring, protruding eyes with terrible calmness. "You will not die, my good man. I have only opened an artery in your thigh, and you will experience all the sensations of bleeding to death. You will get weaker and weaker, and finally, perhaps, lose all consciousness, but we shall not let you die. No, no! You must live and astonish the scientific world through my great discovery!"
"I naturally could say nothing in reply, and no words can adequately express what I felt at that moment. I could, in one breath, have wept, implored, cursed and raved.
"Meanwhile I felt my life's blood flowing, and could hear it drop into a vessel standing under the end of the table. Every moment the doctor laid his hand on my heart, at the same time making remarks which only increased my horror.
"After he had put his hand on me
for at least the twentieth time, and felt the beating of the heart, he said to his assistant:
"Are you ready with your preparations, Langner? He has now lost an enormous quantity of blood, and the pulsation is getting weaker and weaker. See, he is already losing consciousness, and with these words he took the gag out of my mouth.
"A feeling of deadly weakness, as well as of infinite misery, laid hold of me when the physician uttered these words, and on my attempting to speak, I found that scarcely a whispering murmur passed my lips. Shadowy phantoms and strange colors flitted before my eyes, and I believed myself to be already in a state past all human aid.
"What happened the next few minutes I do not know, for I had fainted.
When I reopened my eyes, I noticed I no longer lay on the dissecting table, but was sitting in an arm-chair in a comfortable room, near which stood the two doctors looking at me.
"Near me was a flask of wine, several smelling salts, a few basins of cold water, some sponges and a galvanic battery. It was now bright daylight, and the two doctors smiled as they looked at me.
"When I remembered the terrible experiment I shuddered with horror, and tried to rise. I felt too weak, however, and sank back helpless into the chair. Then the circuit physician, in a friendly but firm voice, addressed me:
"Compose yourself, young man. You imagined you were slowly bleeding to death; nevertheless, be assured that you have not lost a single drop of blood.
You have undergone no operation whatever, but have simply been the victim of your own imagination. We knew very well you heard every word of our conversation, a conversation which was only intended to deceive you as much as possible. What I maintained was that a man's body will always completely lie under the influence of what he himself firmly believes, while my colleague, on the other hand, held the opinion that the body can never be hurt by anything which only exists in the imagination. This has long been an open question between us, which, after your capture, we at once determined to decide. So we surrounded you with objects of a nature to influence your imagination, aided further by our conversation; and, finally, your conviction that we would really carry out the operation of which you heard us speak completed the deception.
"You have now the satisfaction of knowing that you are as safe and as sound as ever you were. At the same time we assure you that you really showed all the symptoms of the man bleeding to death, a proof that the body can sometimes suffer from the most absurd un-reality that the mind can imagine."
"Astonishment, joy and doubt at finding myself neither dead nor dying struggled within me, and then the rage of having been subjected to such an awful and heartless experiment by the two doctors overcame me. I was quickly interrupted by Dr. Engler, however, on trying to give free scope to my indignation.
"We had not exactly any right to undertake such an experiment with you," he said; "but we thought you would pardon us if we delivered you from certain punishment, instead of having to undergo a painful trial and a long imprisonment for burglary. You are certainly at liberty to complain about us; but consider, my good fellow, if such a step is in your interests? I do not think so. On the other hand, we are quite willing to make you a fitting compensation for all the agony you have suffered."
"Under the circumstances," continued George Martin, "I considered it wise to accept their proposal, although I have not to this day forgiven the two men for so treating me.
"The doctors kept their promise.
They made me a very handsome present, and troubled themselves about me in other ways, so that since that time I have been a more fortunate man, and I hope, a better man. Still, I have never forgotten the hour when I lay on the dissecting table—the unexpected victory of a terrible experiment—in the interests of science, as Dr. Engler explained."
Such was the strange story of my friend. His death, which recently took place, released me from the promise of secrecy given to him about an event which he could never recall, even after a lapse of thirty years, without a feeling of unabated horror.—Strand Magazine.

and Most Powerful Men in the Country.

The career of Sidney Dillon, of New York, who died a short time ago, affords one of the most notable examples in American history of the possibilities which await men of talent, industry and ambition. Mr. Dillon went into business for himself at the age of seven as water carrier for the laborers on an extension of the Mohawk & Hudson road at the not exorbitant salary of one dollar per week. He came of a family whose circumstances necessitated the practice of thrift and economy, and as his board and lodging were in addition to his salary he managed to save the greater portion of his income, and in a short time he had enough to purchase a horse and cart, with which he went into the carrying business on a much larger scale. Then he bethought himself of taking contracts to carry sand and water on a larger scale for the corporation which he had previously served as a day laborer.

Having successfully carried out his contracts and finding himself the possessor of a few hundred dollars, he hired a number of horses and carts and undertook heavier tasks, all of which,
by his untiring energy, he completed, to the satisfaction of his employers and to his own pecuniary benefit.
Forty-eight years ago he determined to marry, and on a visit to Amherst, Mass., he met a young and brilliant woman, a member of one of the village's most respected families. To his wife Mr. Dillon owed a great part of his success. She did not come to him with any large dowry, but brought him a wife's love and encouragement.
Their relations throughout their wedded life were of the most beautiful character, and the heaviest loss which Mr. Dillon ever sustained was in December, 1833, when he buried her who had been his life's best companion and friend.
When quite a young man Mr. Dillon came to New York city. He still devoted his attention to carrying out railroad contracts. It can safely be said that few men in the country have undertaken larger contracts. It was he who built the Fourth avenue improvement tunnel from the Grand Central depot to Harlem, New York city. This enterprise was completed at a cost of $7,000,000.
When the Union Pacific railroad was contemplated, thirty years ago, he gave the greater part of his time to the personal superintendence of the work. He went on to Omaha and was continually traveling between that city and Ogden.
At the small village of Fremont, a seventy-five miles west of Ogden, Mr.
Dillon in 1859 assisted in laying the last rail of the road. From its inception he has been permanently connected with the road. When Horace F. Clark died in 1874 Mr. Dillon was manumous-ly elected the executive chief of the road he was instrumental in building and held this position for the ensuing ten years. Mr. Dillon was, during the greater portion of his career, closely identified with Jay Gould, and when the latter obtained his memorable victory in the Union Pacific fight, two years ago, he at once made Mr. Dillon the president of the road. Mr. Dillon's wealth eight years ago was estimated at $25,000,000 and it has increased with great rapidity since that date.
A King Killed by Frigate.
One of the most remarkable instances in history of death by fright is that of King Frederick I., of Prussia. He was actually scared to death by his wife. He was one day sleeping in an armchair when his queen, Louisa, of Mecklenburg, who had been hopelessly insane for some time, escaped from her keepers and made her way to his private apartments. As mentioned above, Frederick was dozing when his wife, dressed in a pure white gown, dashed through the plate glass in the door and threw herself in a raging delirium upon him. In breaking the glass she of course cut herself most horribly. The king had not been apprised of the hopelessness of her case, and was astonished beyond measure at the appearance of the woman, clad only in linen and covered with blood. His shrieks aroused the whole palace, but when she had been secured the king himself was found to be in a raging delirium. From this he never recovered, but died trying to hide from terrible phantoms.
Queer Facts about Gold.
A cubic inch of gold is worth, in round numbers, $210; a cubic foot, $392,380, and a cubic yard, $9,797,792. this on the basis of $18 per ounce. At the beginning of the Christian era there was $427,000,000 of gold in the world, but at the time of the discovery of America the total of the world's gold supply had been reduced to $57,000,000.
The amount of gold now in use is estimated at being worth $10,000,000,000.
Army Deserters.
From the beginning to the end of the war of the rebellion there were 263,000 desertions from the union armies.

ABERDEEN POLLED CATTLE.

Careful Summing Up of the Aberdeen-Angus Good Qualities.
The Aberdeen Polls possess characteristic shapes. The Shorthorn and Hereford are both good types of what may be regarded as the parallelogramic form, while the Aberdeen Poll is probably the most perfect type of the cylindrical form that is in existence. This means a great deal. It implies that there shall be at least fair length of body, with fine spring of ribs, and the absence of those promi-nences and abrupt angles which mar the utility of some otherwise good specimens of the other breeds. Compared with the Shorthorns they are scarcely so large, are lower set, somewhat thicker less pointy and more smooth, although of course there are individual exceptions.
The average specimens of this breed are remarkable for their retention of symmetry of form, even when they are being loaded with fat. They seldom evidence that disposition to patchiness which mars the appearance of individuals of some of the other breeds and renders the carcass much less valuable.
The possession of this useful property would go far of itself to establish the fact that the Aberdeen Polls are good stall feeders. Of this we have confirmatory evidence in the prizes they have won on both sides of the Atlantic at the leading fat stock shows. Their excellent stall feeding qualities, linked with the fact that they are hornless, should be well weighed by the farmers of this province in those days when the legislature finds it necessary to appoint a commission to investigate the question of dehorning.
This breed is distinguished for the production of a good carcass of beef. It is good because generally speaking the dead weight of dressed meat is large in proportion to the live weight, the meat itself is of an excellent quality, evidenced by its ready sale in the leading British markets. It is said to be marbled or fleeced in a greater degree than that of some breeds. But this is a matter which is to some extent controlled by the feeding, although heredity does influence the character of meat in this respect as well as in regard to quantity.
The propensity of the Aberdeen Poll is well established, although its claim in this respect stand no higher than those of the Shorthorn, the Hereford and the Galloway. But this strong power of transmission renders it a potent factor in effecting improvement in common stocks, since the qualities that are thus imparted with much uniformity are those of a high order. It has repeatedly been demonstrated that the Aberdeen Poll crosses admirably with the Shorthorn and the Shorthorn grade, and that the converse of this is true, viz., that the Shorthorn blends admirably with the Aberdeen Poll and the Aberdeen Poll grade. The important feature here is their ability to blend so admirably with the Shorthorn grade, for the common stock of this country have been much improved by Shorthorn blood. By using Aberdeen-Angus bulls our farmers can get good steers for shipping—smooth of carcass and without horns.
In regard to robustness of constitution, to longevity and to ability to adapt themselves to change of climate, they stand well, quite as well as the Shorthorns and Herefords, but do not decidedly excel them in these respects, unless when the latter have been impaired in constitution by long continued in-and-in breeding. This sin is perhaps not chargeable to the same extent upon the breeders of Aberdeen Polls as upon the breeders of Shorthorns. The grazing qualities of the Aberdeen Polls are quite equal to those of the Shorthorns, but not superior, while they are inferior in some degree to those of the Herefords.
On the other hand, they are probably superior to the Herefords as stall feeders and quite equal to the Shorthorns.
The possession of this property implies that they are distinguished by docility of disposition.
Their milking qualities are not of a high order, although the quality of the milk is excellent. They have been reared as beef producers, the calves sucking their own dams, which is always in time fatal to the retention of superior milking qualities.
To recapitulate, the qualities which specially distinguish this beefing breed are rotundity, density and smoothness of carcass, the ability to behave well in the stall when alive and to give a large percentage of excellent meat when dead.

Live Stock Points.
To detect for a certainty sheep scab a magnifying glass is necessary. It is known to the trade as a "scab glass,"
and is not expensive.
In live stock raising one great lack has been that of attention to small details of cost. The old time farmer, with plenty of land and plenty of feed, seldom troubled himself to keep account of the cost of anything in the rearing of animals or the production of crops.
Nine out of every ten merchants in business would be bankrupt in a few years' time if they took no more account of profit and loss than the average farmer and stock raiser does even now.
The conditions of living have become so much harder everywhere that the farmer must inaugurate the strictest business methods in his operations or get left. He should count the cost, taking in every item, of raising every animal that he sells, every acre of crop that he produces—yes, every pound of butter and cheese that is made on his farm.
Only thus can he tell what is and what is not profitable to produce. He must consider his nearness to market and what kind of stock is at once best adapted to his land and his market.
Sometimes he can make a lucky strike and create a market for some new product. Then his fortune is made.
Professor Henry places out at the top of the list as a milk producing food for a mare with a suckling colt.
The sheep scab insect under the microscope looks like an infinitesimal white crab.

A New Land for Settlers in the State of Washington.

East of the sound the land that can be farmed is practically all taken, but west of the sound is the great Olympic peninsula, until lately almost uninhabited, and even now but little known. It has not been surveyed. Out of the heart of it rises the eternally snow-clad Olympic mountains. On the other side roam the elk, black bear, cougar and other more or less noble beasts. Over the earth is a mass of timber and at its feet a jungle. Fir, spruce and white cedar are in the woods and in the many waters wild fowl abound. Frost is said not to know the country. On the Pacific coast side are many valleys and some small prairies. In this absolutely new country the homesteaders are appearing in such numbers that it is said that between 700 and 800 settlers went in there last year to preempt the lands along the streams and on the prairies. There, entirely cut off from the world, they will wait until the lands are surveyed and they can file their claims. They believe that a railroad from Gray's Harbor or Shoalwater Bay to the strait of Juan de Fuca will soon be built past all their holdings. It is likely, for, in addition to the timber, that is the best dairy country in the State. As one citizen put it, "They have more rain than we on the east of the sound, but the presence of water has never yet been considered an objection in the dairy trade."—Harper's Magazine.

A SIMPLE RELIEF FOR LUNG TROUBLES.

It has long been known that pine needle pillows would alleviate persons afflicted with lung troubles, and a Florida editor relates an incident in support of the fact as follows: During a visit to the home of a most estimable lady living on Indian River, this editor was told of a discovery that had been made which may prove a boon to sufferers from lung or bronchial troubles. This lady having heard that there was peculiar virtue in a pillow made from pine straw, and having none of that material at hand, made one from fine, soft, pine shavings and had the pleasure of noting immediate benefit. Soon all the members of the household had pine shavings pillows and it was noticed that all coughs, asthmatic or bronchial troubles abated at once after sleeping a few nights on these pillows. An invalid suffering with lung trouble derived much benefit from sleeping upon a mattress made from pine shavings. The material is cheap and the Christian at Work says it makes a very pleasant and comfortable mattress, the odor of the pine permeating the entire room and absorbing or dispelling all unpleasant odors.

Chauncey Depew, a bright and shining light in the republican party, and the man who put Harrison in nomination at Minneapolis, spoke as follows of Grover Cleveland at a banquet given in honor of Judge Pryor, at New York, Oct. 7, 1890:

"If I were to name the typical American, the man who loves and believes in his country beyond everything else—the man who, determined once in what direction his duty leads, cannot be swayed from the path—the man who is doggedly persistent in what he believes to be right—the man who thinks not of self, but of his country and its needs, I would name Grover Cleveland. What he has accomplished is the very highest tribute to the possibilities of American citizenship. Coming into the highest position in the land without previous experience and with scarcely a precedent to guide him in the conditions which surrounded him, he won the affection of his party and commanded the respect and admiration of his opponents. I find myself in one of the proudest positions of my life in being permitted to present to you Grover Cleveland as the typical American."

There is an old story of a beggar to whom one day there appeared by the wayside a beautiful being, with her hands outstretched laden with treasures. As he gazed at her in stupid surprise, she glided past him; but she returned with her treasures still held out to him, and once more with beseeching eyes, as if she would compel him to take what she offered, she passed slowly by and disappeared. She had no sooner gone than, as if waking from a dream, he hurried eagerly in the direction she had taken. He met a traveler and said: "Have you seen a beautiful stranger, with her hands full of things that I want, going along this road?" "Yes," replied the traveler, "her name is Opportunity. But once offered and once refused she never returns."

The rate of progression of a storm is often 50 miles an hour and a series has been traced in a direct line from north to south, a distance of 400 miles. Mr. Marriott thinks that the average altitude of a thunder storm does not extend beyond 5,000 feet above the earth's surface.

A Railway Across Lake Michigan.

The bold idea of ferrying loaded freight cars across Lake Michigan is soon to be put into practice. A large propeller is under construction at Toledo which will have a capacity of 21 cars and it is expected to tow a barge of 15 cars, making 36 cars, or more than an average freight train. The cost of transferring grain and other freight from cars to steamer and from steamer to cars forms a very heavy item of cost, which the proposed plan, if successful, will save. Lake Michigan, however, is a treacherous water and considerable risk will be involved in ferrying cars across it, especially in winter, when ice abounds. The new boats are to ply between Frankfort, on the Michigan shore, and Kewaupee, on the Wisconsin shore, a distance of 52 miles, connecting the Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern with the Green Bay, Winona and St. Paul Railway.—Railway Age.

It was an outward bound ocean vessel. A goodly number of ministers of the gospel were on board and it was decided to hold an experience meeting in the saloon.

An elderly minister presided and he called upon a young preacher, who had been one of the promoters of the meeting, for his experience. The latter began: "Brethren, as I was lying in my berth last night thinking of the great ocean on whose bosom we are floating, a beautiful thought came to me!"

Then he stopped. His face began to assume a pallor often noticed on shipboard, and placing his hand on his watch pocket he left in great haste to commune with the bounding deep.

"My friends," remarked the presiding minister, "I think we had better let our beautiful thoughts digest."

The Sampson Well at Waco, Texas.—The "Sampson" is the largest well in the United States, and has few rivals in the world. It is bored with a diameter of 10 inches to the depth of 1,850 feet—all the artesian wells of Waco finding their supply at 1,825 to 1,950 feet deep. The "Sampson" throws up about 1,500,000 gallons daily of hot but perfectly pure and crystalline water, at a temperature of 103°—which is the highest temperature of any artesian water yet discovered—with a pressure of 60 pounds to the inch. It will rise in the stand-pipe to the height of 120 feet from the ground. The supply appears to be inexhaustible, no diminution of pressure having so far been felt at the other wells.

A truly prophet is the wind. If a steady northeaster is sending the rain against your windows, mark when it changes. If it veers from northeast to north and then northwest, and clears the clouds away, nature's storm signal is still hoisted. If, however, it goes to the northwest by east, south and west you can remove your rubber overalls and leave your umbrella in the rack. In the first case the weather will be temporary, but, in the second, the stormy elements are completely exhausted.

In Balakany, near Baku, the centre of the Russian petroleum industry, is witnessed the anomaly of the water used for the steam boilers in the several establishments costing more than the fuel. As a matter of fact the water is bad and dear, costing about half a crown per ton; while a ton of asphalt, that is the residuum of the distillation of the crude naphtha, which is the combustible naturally utilized, is sold at a price equivalent to 18 pence per ton of coal.

One good effect of short skirts, if ever generally adopted, will be to force women to learn to walk well. At present they shuffle, mince, turn in one foot, do everything but walk. Nothing commands more respect than dignity of carriage, always excepting elegance and dignity of speech, and when that sex discover that feet have a higher mission than to be crowded into boots and shoes too small for them, and that corns are an offense against nature, the reign of noble bearing may set in.

G. A. R. Side Trips.—The C. & O. offers many delightful side trips to the members of the G. A. R. on the occasion of the National Encampment at Washington in September. One of the side trips being via steamer down the Potomac river to Fortress Monroe, thence through the peninsula to Richmond and returning by way of Appomattox. A nominal rate of $2 additional will be charged for this trip.

BEEF BREEDS.

Meat Making Qualities of Different Breeds of Cattle.

We present this week to our readers who are interested in cattle breeding an assortment of the various types of beef steers. Some of them are portraits of steers that took prizes at fat cattle shows.

FIG. 1—DEVON PRIZE WINNER.

No. 1 is a beautiful Devon steer that took first prize at the Smithfield (Eng.) Fat Stock show. Compare his points now with those of No. 2.

FIG. 2—PRIZE SHORTHORN STEER.

No. 2 is a splendid Shorthorn that took the sweepstakes prize for the model beef animal at the Chicago Fat Stock show.

FIG. 3—PRIZE HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN STEER.

No. 3 also took a prize as a beef steer of the Holstein-Friesian breed at the Chicago Fat Stock show. The Holsteins are of two strains, beef and dairy, the difference being distinctly marked to connoisseurs. The animal in the picture represents the beef breed.

FIG. 4—HEREFORD STEER.

No. 4 is not a prize winner, but just a plain, good conditioned steer in private life. He belongs to the massive and picturesque Hereford family.

FIG. 5—GALLOWAY STEER.

No. 5 is not a prize winner either, but like the Hereford a plain, honest beef in private life, by breed a Galloway. In the northwest the Galloways and that other hornless breed, the Aberdeen Angus, are growing more popular among the beef raisers. The Galloways stand a severe climate especially well.

Now look at these fine beeves, examine their points, and decide for yourself which breed will bring you in the most money for the expense and trouble of raising it.

Wool for the World's Fair.

The following circular has been sent out from Washington as supplemental to the agricultural department's earlier request for wool samples:

The agricultural department will exhibit at the Columbian exposition between 3,000 and 4,000 wool samples from all parts of the world. They will cover all classes of wool, from the highest to the lowest. Especial attention has been given to the selection of samples of wools that compete with our home grown wools. These were procured through a special agent of the treasury department sent abroad for the purpose of procuring samples for custom house standards. The department is desirous of obtaining the American samples direct from the growers, so that comparison can be made with wools of the same character grown in different parts of the country. The samples will be placed in glass jars labeled with the grower's name and address, also with description of the sheep and wool.

Assistant Secretary Willits is giving wool and sheep especial attention, as he is desirous of furthering the interests of this great industry. With this view he has requested Hon. John T. Rich to make a report to accompany this exhibition. Mr. Rich will, when the collection is completed, examine the samples comparatively, and being a practical sheep breeder of long experience his report will be of great value. Each sample should be about one pound in weight and taken from the body of the fleece. Bags for the same and blank invoices are furnished by the department. Samples can be mailed without the payment of postage. Should you desire to have your clip represented please address for particulars, Edward A. Greene, Philadelphia, or John T. Rich, Elba, La. peninsula, Mich.

Beeves intended to be shipped abroad should weigh before the fattening commences from 800 to 900 pounds.

Poor Human Nature.

Mr. Chugwater had been reading aloud to his family the details of the terrible tornado in Minnesota. "Is that all there is of it, Josiah?" asked Mrs. Chugwater.

"Yes," he replied, laying the newspaper down. "I've read to you the whole story, names of the killed and wounded and all."

"I know a great many people in Minnesota," rejoined Mrs. Chugwater, with a sigh of mild disappointment, "but none of those names sound familiar."—Chicago Tribune.

Liked Spelling.

Visitor—What do you study at school? Little Girl—Readin', an' writin', an' arithmetic, an' spellin'.

"Well! Well! What a bright little girl you are. Now, which study do you like best?"

"Spellin'."

"Indeed! Most children do not. Why do you like spelling?"

"Cause every time I spell a word teacher laughs."—Good News.

A Financier.

The Bank Cashier—You insist on my having a fortune before I marry your daughter?

The Bank President—I do, sir.

The Bank Cashier (leaving)—Very well, sir; I shall have one before evening. And—by the way—you will have no objection to the ceremony taking place in Canada?—Life.

Worth Keeping.

Lady—I want you to take this dog back. He is handsome, I admit, but he can't be taught anything at all, and is of no earthly use.

Dealer (slowly)—Yes, mum, I know, mum; but just think what a fine rug he'll make when he's dead.—N. Y. Weekly.

What He Didn't Like.

Landlady—Why do you wish to leave my house, Mr. Starboarder? Don't you like the table?

Mr. S.—Oh, yes, very much indeed. I don't know that I ever saw a better one. It's what you put on it that I can't stand any longer.—Detroit Free Press.

A Hint to Many Others.

Mrs. Murray Hill—What! Not going to the beach this summer?

Mr. Murray Hill—No, my dear, money is too scarce; but we can get the same rural enjoyment by sleeping out in the back yard and daubing our faces with five cents' worth of walnut juice.—Texas Siftings.

A Hopeful View.

He (despondently)—Our marriage will have to be postponed. I have lost my situation and haven't any income at all.

She (hopefully)—That doesn't matter now, my dear. We won't need any. I've learned how to trim my own hat.—N. Y. Weekly.

The Old Man Was On.

"Well, Uncle Reuben, that's a fine pair of oxen you have."

"Ya-as."

"What have you named them?"

"Nigh one's Pilot an' th' off one's Rudder."

"Strange names, aren't they?"

"Not fur steers."—Puck.

At the Police Court.

Judge—You stole the pocketbook, but how is it that you did not appropriate the watch lying by the side of it?

Prisoner—You don't mean to say I was as daff as that? I couldn't have noticed it. You must excuse me, judge!—Texas Siftings.

An Expert.

Baseball Captain—You say that you can catch?

Tramp—Yis, sorr.

B. Captain—You don't look like it. What kind of a catcher are you?

Tramp—Rat catcher, yer honner.—Jury.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Mr. W. M. LACKEY went up to Middletown Wednesday.

Miss LOTTIE SLADE, of Louisville, is with Mrs. Waverly Hamilton.

Miss MINNA PHILIPS, of Madison, is the guest of Miss Mary McKinney.

Miss J. E. MARTIN and sons, of Richmond, are visiting Mrs. A. Underwood.

Miss ALICIA TYLER went to Madison yesterday to visit her sister, Mrs. Broadbent.

WILLIAM MORELAND left yesterday for Cleveland, Tenn., to buy another lot of cows.

MR. AND MRS. E. G. WALKER, of Cumberland Gap, are guests of Mrs. Susan Harris.

Mr. MOSES COLLIER left Wednesday to visit his brother, W. L. Collier, near Decatur, Ill.

Mr. ED. WHITE and his sister, Miss Mattie, are attending Conference at Middletown.

Miss MINNIE DISWILLIE has gone to Louisville to resume her position in a millinery.

Dr. C. A. COX stepped on a nail a few days ago and as a consequence is going on crutches.

Miss MARIE WARREN, of Danville, is visiting her cousin, Misses Jennie and Marie Warren.

Mr. J. S. HUGHES is in Cincinnati buying goods and Miss Annie Green is running the store alone.

Mr. W. B. MARSH and wife, of Lancaster, were over this week on a visit to Mrs. M. S. Baughman.

Miss A. E. GIBSON, of Danville, is visiting the families of Mr. W. T. Smith and Mr. J. M. Shedd.

Miss VIRGILIAN BALLARD, of Kansas City, returned with Miss Ella May Saunders and is now her guest.

Rev. C. E. POWELL, of Burksville, passed up yesterday to Ginn Sulphur, where he will hold a meeting.

Mr. H. M. WARREN, of Birmingham, has joined his wife here, who is the guest of Mrs. Kate Dugler.

Miss S. P. STACEY is visiting Mrs. Matt Woodson, at Middletown, and attending the Methodist Conference.

Misses MATTIE ELKINS and May Hughes, a couple of Garrard county beauties, have been the guests of Mrs. M. E. Elkin.

T. J. B. TESSER, the clever manager of the Blue Grass Hedge Co., with headquarters at Lancaster, was in town yesterday.

Miss A. J. EARP and Eunice have returned from a month's visit to relatives at Gayandotte, W. Va., to the joy of the old man.

Mr. J. M. CARTER took Misses Lela and Susie Carter, Ruby Huston and Lottie Givens to Jellico, Tuesday, to enter Miss Mollie Harman's school.

Mr. G. W. STEPHENS has rented one of Mrs. Woody Hale's houses, near Mrs. Shanks', and will remove his family from Danville in a short time.

Rev. W. L. WILLIAMS and daughter, Miss Dollie, of Hustonville, came down to attend the meeting and while here they were the guests of Miss Julia Peyton.

Col. PETER HAMILTON has taken the agency for the Ethna Life and Accident Insurance Co., and is now prepared to talk to death any one who comes within his reach.

Among the Lancaster people who attended the Batson violin recital were Prof. J. C. Gordon and Misses Van Arsdale, Prudie Gordon, Mattie Elkin, Maggie Miller, and R. H. Batson and R. E. Hughes.

The happiest man in town is Prof. J. M. Hubbard. He feels that the unprecedented first week's attendance at the College is evidence strong as that of holy writ that his efforts to build up a first-class school are appreciated.

Misses C. VASOV and W. M. McAlfee have returned from a trip to Missouri. The former when asked if he liked that State, remarked that he rented immediately on his return 40 acres of land to which he was going to stay here and attend.

W. A. THIBBLE, Esq., went over to Cincinnati and staid so long that the report was noised about that he had run off and got married. His return without a wife proved it untrue, so the girls who are looking and longing for him can continue to look and long.

CITY AND VICINITY.

My bath rooms are now fitted up and ready for use. Call in and try one and you will come again. Jesse J. Thompson.

I haven't been an extra week either, but our business manager has added 20 new names to our subscription list since Monday.

PUBLIC, by John Barrels, at Otterheim, Saturday, Sept. 17, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. Everybody invited.

SOLON CHASE, colored, for nursing and otherwise abusing Pete Miller's wife, was fined $5 in Judge Carson's court Wednesday.

Those who have hose to attach to their water plugs are abusing themselves greatly by sprinkling the streets. It is hoped that they will not tire of the fun.

GEN. ADAMS postponed the session of the soldiers of the Army of Ohio, set to occur at Middletown this week. He didn't know when the time was fixed that the Methodist preachers had the call and would eat up everything in sight in that forlorn and lonesome town this week.

SINE & MENEFEE have contracted with Harvey Helm to build a couple of cottages, which are to be put up at once. One is to be built on the lot adjoining the Helm property, on lower Main street, and the other on the lot adjoining the one at present occupied by Judge Stephen Barck. Stanford ground is too valuable to stand idle and Mr. Helm shows his good sense by building.

A CARRY county fair and picnic is advertised to be held Sept. 17, at Shady Grove race track, near Yosemite. J. W. and W. E. McWhorter, George Jeter, W. T. Dye and F. B. Lucas are the managers and they assure a day of fun. Among the premiums are: Plug horse race, $5; foot race $2.50; slow mile race $3; old time goose pull horse trot $5, &c. Music and refreshments will be served in huge quantities.

As administrator of Ed McRoberts I will sell at public auction in front of the Court-House on next county court day the following of his effects: Two shares of stock in the L. & N. railroad, buggy and harness, saddle, full set of carpenter's tools, including a mortising machine, furniture, consisting of beds, chairs, clock, stove, gold watch as good as new, lot of fencing lumber, and various other things. J. E. Bruce, Adm.

A SKEBO, named Suter, attempted to take a Cincinnati Southern train at Junction City, and when Conductor Ed Sherman expostulated with him he fired two shots from his pistol without effect. Then Capt. Sherman, with the assistance of Detective Algood, disarmed him, after a considerable fight, in which the negro was badly beaten, and took him to Lexington, where an officer met him and carried the negro back to jail at Danville. It won't do to fool with plucky Ed Sherman. You'll get the worst of it every time.

The city council met in called session Monday night and ordered the purchase of 800 feet of hose, two hose reels and one hook and ladder wagon, the whole to cost about $1,000. Mack Price was made chief of the fire company, which he was ordered to raise. He is a good man for the place, that is if he will prove as expert with the hose as he has with the bucket. The council also ordered the water mains to be laid to the end of Logan Avenue and another fire plug placed on the line. When the equipment arrives Stanford will be better prepared than any town of its size in the State to protect herself from fire.

The violin recital given at the College by Mr. H. Ward Batson proved a very pleasant entertainment to the crowd that attended. Mr. Batson handles the bow with the cunning of a master and won much praise and applause. Miss May Hughes furnished the piano accompaniment and did it very handsomely. Miss Gertrude Howard was down for a song, but owing to hoarseness produced by a cold taken in travelling, did not sing, but gave in a spirited and excellent manner a difficult piano selection. The elocution teacher, Miss Olivia Summers, recited a tragic and a humorous selection, which showed much versatility and proved her a mistress of the art. It is very probable that Mr. Batson will secure a class in violin music at the College, as all were pleased with his exhibition.

Don't forget the sale of Loenst Grove stock farm on Sept. 21st.

REMEMBER your account is due. Please call and settle. W. H. McRoberts.

To LOAN.—$4,000 on real estate security. Address Box 10, Lancaster, Ky.

The town was full of Gypsies yesterday and the horse "swappers" hereabouts had a big time.

INVITATIONS have been received here to the 8th Annual Fair Hop to be given at Somerset Thursday night.

I will be prepared to furnish oysters either in bulk or can or served on Saturday. Put in your order. R. Zimmer.

GEORGE TUCKER, for fast riding through town on Tuesday afternoon, was fined $5 and cost in Judge Carson's court, yesterday afternoon.

LECTURES.—Revs. Geo. W. Dunlap and W. C. Barnes will give illustrated lectures at Crab Orchard on the nights of the 19th and 20th of Sept.

A. A. WARREN sold 200 papers extra yesterday and still the demand was not exhausted. Everybody, whether they admit it or not, seems to have taken an interest in the prize fight.

Col. PETER HAMILTON has on sale a lot of pop corn, each box bearing a picture, one of Cleveland and the other of Harrison. Up to date the Cleveland packages have outsold the Harrisons nearly two to one, which is some evidence of Cleveland's popularity in these regions.

TALTON HALL, the desperado who was hung on Friday last at Wise County Court House, Va., had his sister pledge him just before going on the scaffold that she would see that the judge who tried the case, as well as the detective who worked it up, should bite the dust. The detective, William G. Pridle, is an uncle of Mrs. S. M. Owens, of this place.

As enterprising thief went to Mrs. Wm. Daugherty's hen-house before a dark Wednesday night, and had pulled two heads of her chickens off, when she went to lock the door and he skipped out. The ex-mayor, who is now a counsellor, says he would give his year's salary to be able to fill the fellow's hide full of bird shot, which he intends to do on his next visit.

The First National Bank of Middletown, after rather precarious existence, was closed by a bank examiner this week. Bad debts and slow collections are given as the cause. It is said that the depositors are secure, but the stockholders are in the soup. Poor old Middletown! Soon there will be none so poor as to do the late Magic City honor. See transit gloria mundi and of money too.

THE SCHOOLS.—The Female College opened Tuesday with 92 pupils present; 32 of whom were not in the school last year. In the music class there are 24 students and the school is 50 per cent. larger than it was the first week of the last scholastic year. Prof. B. E. Johnson, principal of the Male Academy, opened on the same day with 35 scholars, which is a good start. The professor's wife will assist him.

The news of the knocking out of Sa-livan by Corbett, at New Orleans, was known in Stanford five minutes after the last round was fought. Chief Train Dispatcher W. F. Sheridan, who has a telegraph ticker in his room at the Coffey House, held a levee Wednesday night and with the assistance of L. W. Westerfield gave his guests the result of each round as it was fought. There was great rejoicing over Corbett's victory here, though Sullivan was the favorite in the betting. The big one's drunken, overbearing manners in the past left him without many friends, after reading his record.

Two or three young fellows went to Rowland the other day and after filling up with the whiskey that is retailed there, became very boisterous and acted in a shameful manner. One of them was more pronounced in his bad behavior than the others and when ordered by Judge J. A. Chappell to desist, he raved and swore and defied arrest. The marshal was not present, so the judge, who is determined to maintain the law at any cost, took the job himself and soon showed the young man that he could be arrested and disarmed too. He then took him into court and fined him $10, when he began to swear and defy the judge again. This was more than the officer could stand, so he ordered him to jail for contempt and that night, the boy who might have been the pride of his father, as he is the source of great concern to a loving mother, spent the night in jail, next to the cell of a murderer. We hope it will be a lesson to him and that he will shun whisky hereafter as he would a viper. He promises to do so and as it is his first offense we omit his name at his urgent request. The other young man got too drunk to create a disturbance and he was allowed to sleep it off till next day, when he was fined $8.

—M. S. Baughman sold to D. N. Prewitt 8 cattle at 3c and a lot of hogs at 4c.

—Rev. Ben Helm, W. D. Headlestone and family and W. S. Walker are attending Presbytery in Taylor county.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. A. J. Daugherty will preach at Neal's Creek next Sunday at 11 A. M.

—Rev. T. J. Godbey, of LaGrange, passed up to Middletown Tuesday, looking in fine health and spirits.

—Eld. Mark Collins, one of the ablest preachers in the Christian church, closed a revival at McCormacks, Tuesday night with 35 additions. The church was greatly revived and everybody who attended felt that it was good to be there.

—Elder James L. Allen, who has been preaching for the congregation of Athens Christian church for several years, tendered his resignation on Sunday last. He is exceedingly popular with those people and they regret most sincerely to part with him.—Lexington Gazette.

—The meeting at the Christian church is creating much interest and drawing large crowds, but there have been no additions yet. Rev. W. E. Tharpe is assisting Pastor W. E. Ellis and preaches twice daily, at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. The meeting will continue at least two weeks.

—From a table of statistics furnished by Clerk T. P. Dudley, Jr., we find that there are over 5,000 members in the 20 churches composing the Tate's Creek Association, Tate's Creek or Reimblinian church leading the list with 305 members and Stanford coming next with 243. The number received by baptism last year as reported was 130. But 12 of the churches reported Sunday-schools with a total scholarship of 824. Tate's Creek has 180 and Stanford 108 of them.

—I write to inform all friends who desire to hear Bro. Barnes at Crab Orchard, that I am just in receipt of a telegram saying to secure board and place to preach from this, Thursday night, until Sunday night. The Christian and Baptist churches have both been tendered for the meetings, but on account of convenience to his boarding place, the springs, we have decided to accept the use of the Christian church. Let all come who can. Respt. D. G. Slaughter.
